THE SKIDNOUE CHOP.

While the proprietor of the Maison Dores was standing behind his counter the other day, catching flies from current cake, and wishing that a little of the business wave the Eastern papers say so much about would slop over into his restaurant, as it were, a young man with a beaming smile on his face and a big box under his arm entered. "Dou't want any sleeve-buttons, nor nuthin'," growled the dyspepsia distributor, glancing at the box. "No, nor I," said the stranger, affably, depositing the box on the counter, and removing the Bd. But what you do want is the greatest invention of recorded time—the Restaurant Keeper's Friend-the Boarding House Proprietor's Salvation:

"Roach Poison?" said the steak stretcher contemptuously. "No, sir," retorted the young man, taking a handful of singularly shaped objects out of the box. "Something that beats the phonograph and the telephone all hollow. I refer to the 'Skidmore Chop.'"

" What s that ? " Why, it's the most economical device of modern times, and I'll prove it right here. Suppose you are serving a dinner to, say half-a-dozen persons? Now, how many chops do you generally put on the

"A fortune," said the man of cutlets, eagerly. "All we can do with 'em now is to work 'em over into hashes." "Peace to your hashes," said the agent;

"all this ruinous waste is now prevented by the introduction to the same dish of the patent Skidmore Indestructible India-Rubber Chop, put up in packages of one dozen, and warranted for five years," and the food economizer exhib ted some life-like imitations of cooked mutton chops.

"Looks like a good scheme," said the concoctor of stews, thoughtfully; "but don't the custommers ever-"

"Ever tumble? Not in the least. He only notices that one chep is a little tougher than the others, and finally gets his fork into a real chop and chews shead. These small r ones come higher, as they are made of a little more limber article of rubber, for lamb chops. Can't be told from genuine by the naked eye. All you have to do is to grease 'em on both sides, warm 'em up a little, and serve them mixed in with the others same as usual."

Seems like they are about as tender as the regulation kind," said the restaurateur, jabbing one with a fork. "Dou't they ever get eaten by mistake?"

"No-no-that is, not now. We did lose a few that way when first introduced, but now that we make the material tougher, it don't happen any more, unless they swallow 'em whole. CARDS AND CARDS. This anecdote of guileless innocence on the part of a raw young Parisian footman is going the rounds in Paris. His mistress proposed to devote her afternoon to calls, and stepping into her carriege remembered that she had left her card-case on the table, so she instructed her servant to fetch the necessary implement of her visit, and told him that she would inform him where to leave the substitutes for a personal interview, He fetched the cards, and was ordered to leave, "two here," "one here," "three here," &c., at different houses, as etiquette demanded. The man assiduously obeyed, till at length "three here," was the order given, and he paused:

"I can't, madame," he answered. She I oked interrogatively at him "There are only two left," he continued glancing at the remnant-" the ace of dia monds and the king of clubs,"

TEN FACTS.

A Large and Strong Company. The New York Life has age and the stability high brings success. It has been in opera-on over thirty-five years, and at the beginning of 1830 had over 45,000 policies in force, covering over $127,000,000 in insurance. For the security of these policies the Company held nearly thirty nine million dollars, being $124,000 over every $100 of liabilities by the State Standard.

A Purely Mutual Company. The New York Life is one of the few purely

3. A Liberal and Progressive Company,
The New York Life in 1860 originated and introduced the non-forfeiture system of policies, since adoped, in part or in some form, by every life company. It anticipated the New York Stafe Law on the subject, in time by over nineteen years, and in liberality to the insured by giving more than

4. A Rapidly Growing Company.

The last ten years include the six years of depression that followed the panic of 1878; yet de ing these ten years the increase in the Company's assets has been nearly three-fold, and the increase in surplus and interest receipts over three-fold. During this time the annual disbursements to policyholders have risen from $2,598,303 to $4,848,400 and have aggregated the inconceivable aum of forty million dollars ($40,301,252). Its interest receipts along have been proposed of 6fteen million.

5. A Solid and Vigorous Company.

The New York Life has held its business, in spite of the "hard times," better than any other prominent company. The falling off among these from the highest point reached since the paule of 1873, has been nearly twenty per cent, on an average both of meone and insurance is force: while

A Wide-Anake Company. The New York Life has issued over 140,000 policies, insuring over $420,000,000. It has received over $85,000,000 in premiums and nearly $25,000,000 in interest and rents. It has paid over $31,000,000 in death-claims, and returned over $31,000,000 to living policyholders, The amount of its present assets, plus its payments to policyholders and their families, exceeds the sum received from them by nearly six million dollars.

Its management was never more vigorous, skill-ful, and prudent than at present. Its report for the year ending January 1st, 1880, shows almost unparalleled prosperity—a large increase in assets; a large increase in surplus; a large increase in pgemium receipts; a large increase in interest re-ceipts; a large increase in polciles and insurance, issued and in force; and a decrease in death-loss-es, resulting from a careful selection of lives and

8. A Company with A No. 1 Securities. The securities of the New York Life are of the very highest order, the interest on which is collected when due. The entire amount of its uncollected interest, including the amount accrued or earned but not yet due, upon its investments January 1st, 1880, was but $317,989.11. This was only about eight-tenths of one per cent. of the Company's entire assets, being the lowest ratio of any prominent company and in notable contrast with some. At the date above given its bonds and stocks were worth nearly a million dollars more than cost.

A Prudent Company.

In estimating its liabilities the Company employs the severest standard used in this country. Security being the sine que non in life insurance, the New York Life calculates its reserve fund on the supposition that it will be able to realize in future but four per cent. interest: and thus keeps this fund over four million dollars larger than is required by the law by which its solvency is tested. Hence, no unusual losses, no sudden depression in the prices of securities, no panic, no hard times, nor all of these combined can so reduce its surplus as seriously to embarrass the Company.

The policies of the New York Life are notable for their freedom from vexatious restrictions; the customs of the Company with respect to payment of premiums, etc., are plainly stated, and efforts are made to encourage and to enable every honest policyholder to keep up his policy; in the settlement of claims by death the greatest liberality consistent with justice is ever shown, as the grateful acknowledgements of hundreds of beneficiaries abundantly testify. By its liberal construc-
